

Euthanasia

Hastening or not preventing death in order to shorten the suffering of the sick person. Sometimes euthanasia is defined as a type of homicide. Euthanasia is divided into passive euthanasia referred to as orthothanasia and active euthanasia as mercy killing. The admissibility of euthanasia is a difficult ethical issue.