

Guardianship

An institution similar to care. It is a form of court-established protection of persons or property rights of persons who cannot manage their own affairs (a conceived child, a minor, an incapacitated person, a disabled person, an absent person). Guardianship is exercised by a guardian appointed by the court.