

Pending cases at the end of the reporting period or at the last day of the reporting period

It means that the cases have not been dealt with during a given reporting period, and remain to be dealt with in the next reporting period. It is a numerical number of matters that have not been finally resolved on a specific day.