

Recidivism

Return to crime. This is a recurring phenomenon in society, and in the case of an individual, it is the repeated or repeated commission of crimes by the same person (regardless of whether he or she has been punished).